Crackle Nail Polish

DEAR ART AFFICIANADOS:

I seldom get a manicure because being an artist wrecks havoc on my nails and hands. But every once in a while when I can't stand the way my nails look, I'll "pop" for one. So, a few months ago, I noticed my manicurist wearing some unusual looking nail polish. It had an undercoat of one color and a top coat of another color and the top coat was "cracked" so you could see the undercoat. I flipped! "Gee what is this?" and she showed me the bottles of nail polish that will "crackle" when applied.

Naturally I had to have this polish on my nails, and immediately purchased a few bottles of base coat and a few bottles of the crackle top coat. My mind was buzzing. Not only was I thrilled with my new manicure, I couldn't wait to get into my studio to try out my new artist venture (shown above). I played and played with the nail polish and eventually created the three paintings seen above. It was fun. So, if you like to play as much as I do, then try it out.
